THE CHALLENGE:

The Moosehead Brewery was undergoing a renovation project, which required a seamless, high performance flooring system for 31,000 square feet of the beverage production area. It was imperative that the flooring solution offer outstanding physical characteristics, due to the unique environment present in a brewery facility.

THE STONHARD SOLUTION:

The Stonhard team recommended Stonclad GS, which offers serious protection for heavy duty environments. Stonclad provides extraordinary protection under the most demanding conditions. Chemical, abrasion and impact resistant systems assure durability and longevity. Specialized configurations meet the needs of static control and temperature dependant environments. Stonclad systems offer diversity and performance for the most rigorous industrial applications.

Fibergate FRP (Fiberglass Reinforced Plastic) catwalks were also installed in various areas within the brewery. Fibergate FRP components and structural systems are safe, easy to clean, lightweight and chemical resistant, making them the cost-effective alternative to metallic structures.

The structural steel in the ceiling of this brewery was also coated with Carboline's Rustbond penetrating primer, and Carbocrylic 3359 DTM high performance direct-to-metal acrylic coating, which exhibits excellent chemical resistance and weathering properties. The filling equipment was coated with Carbomastic 615 high performance epoxy, and Carboguard 890 chemical resistant epoxy mastic coating. Carboline Company is dedicated to supplying high performance coatings, lining, and fireproofing products around the world through continuous technological improvements and first class service.
